My passion revolves around creating immersive visual stimulus, in order to make the common man look and appreciate his environment more frequently. My work developed from stick animation to photography then collage, leading up to motion graphics. Understanding human psychology is crucial in order to create work that portrays everyday life in a unexpected manner.

Apart from work I play the guitar and practice some card magic from time to time, I also play basketball for the college team, as well as tennis. I also try to help out as many people within my college, as much as I can, these situations usually lead to collaborations.
